Inaugural Address

The inaugural address to SCAL's flagship Programme on Public Policy and International Relations was delivered by Dr. Shashi Tharoor, Member of Parliament, Thiruvananthapuram and Former under Secretary General-United Nations.

Dr. Tharoor welcomed and lauded the idea of Public policy and the pressing need for understanding policy issues among the younger generations, especially those who have joined the government in various positions and for the SCAL cohort. He stated that St. Stephen's had done its very best and now with the Centre in place, the College decided to break newer records by admitting young professionals for various executive courses which will add greater value and essence to the civil society at large.

'Traditionally the idea of Public Policy and International Relations for study as an academic subject was largely monopolized by the western countries particularly the United States, The Harvard Kennedy School of Government since 1970's alone has produced 17 Heads of Governments, numerous Cabinet Ministers, senior leaders and Diplomats to occupy top position in the governments of the world and of the civil society. This has been possible majorly because of the American format of receiving donations and endowments hence I am pleased to know Mr. Reji Abrahams generous contribution to the Centre and congratulate Principal John Varghese for taking the initiative.', said Dr. Tharoor.
