Name of the Paper : Modern European Drama

Semester : VI

Duration : 3+1 (one hour reserved for downloading of question paper, scanning and uploading of answer sheets)

Maximum Marks : 75

Instructions for Candidates:

Attempt any three questions. All the questions carry equal marks (25x3=75)

Each answer is to be written in 750-1000 words

- Q1. Do you agree that in Ibsen's Ghosts the joy of life is also seen as a masculine trap? Where in your view does Ms. Alving stand in relation to the joy of life?
- Q2. "Bertolt Brecht's Epic theatre is seen to distance us from a feeling of empathy with the plot, enabling us to see universal truths as class/gender based lies." In the light of this statement, analyse in detail any two such instances from your understanding of The Good Person of Szechwan.
- Q3. Ionesco's Rhinoceros presents Berenger as the last man standing, but what does he stand for? Critically analyse the ending of the play.
- Q4. Would you agree that, in Samuel Beckett's Waiting for Godot, the characterisation of Lucky and the relevance of his speech present a challenge to the value structures of the contemporary western capitalist world? Give a detailed answer.
- Q5. A script that seeks a social change remains relevant in all times. Do you find that any of the texts in this paper present a relevant social critique of the times in which we live? Illustrate with the help of any ONE text in your course.
- Q6. Focussing on any ONE play in your course, explain in detail the thematic concerns that make Modern European Drama different from what preceded it.
