Enactus Project Nuri

Enactus, St. Stephen's College took up Project Nuri-which involved the production of pickles and other preservatives - in an attempt to uplift the poor communities, especially old age women by helping them achieve an economically better-living state.

We managed to achieve the following through the means of our initiative:

- Proper ideation and appropriate research and testing related to the raw material and their ratio used were carried out.
- Target communities were approached for setting up the project.
- A potential list of NGOs along with the proposal is ready.
- Plan of action- these NGOs will soon be contacted with our project proposal and will start developing the project business plan with the NGO that is ready to collaborate with us.
- We aim to create a self-sustainable business model with the NGO to establish a circular income flow model with our target community.
- The initial support in form of capital and other professional support will be provided by team Enactus, St. Stephen's College till the project reaches the self-sustainable level.

Enactus Project Trishna

Enactus, St. Stephen's College took up Project Trishna -which involves the production of low-cost water filters made using sustainable material- in an attempt to uplift the poor communities in areas affected by the water crisis by helping them achieve a healthier living state.

- We researched the ongoing water crisis in India and how it is affecting people, with a special focus on Delhi- NCR regions.
- We identified the target regions facing a severe water crisis and set up our target community accordingly.
- We researched the specific ratios of silver, clay and dust used to make the model.
- We reached out to the potter community for the production of our prototype.
- We made 5 water filters containing different ratios of silver and clay to test for efficiency.
- We contacted governmental and private laboratories to test our filtered water sample.
- Our team undertook a field visit in October 2021 to the Delhi Jal Board where research and understanding of the process of testing were undertaken. A careful analysis of the costs involved was also done so that we could figure out the costs as per our needs and requirements.
- The filtered samples are now in the process of testing.

- We expect to impact 40 members of the community directly, 200 indirectly and even more when the project is made self-sufficient.
- The project targets a wide demographic of various ethnicities and religions.

Daan Utsav: Books for All

Enactus, St. Stephen's College participated in Daan Utsav, as part of the Books for All Campaign organized by NGO Guzarish, where we helped them raise Rs 4874 for the education of children who don't have access to books as we do. Publicity was done to spread awareness about the issue and appeal to people for their cause.

- The campaign page was on Milaap Website, where ours was a support campaign to the campaign launched by NGO Guzarish
- We even received Rs. 487 INR as an incentive for our support of their cause.

EnacTalks: an Interview Series on our social media handles under the Radio Show Vertical

Enactus, St. Stephen's College, established an interview-cum-talk series called "EnacTalks" under its Radio Show Vertical to be able to interview and hold talks with some of the people who made a difference by their excellence in diverse fields. This programme aims to learn from the personal experiences of people who have worked in the field of social entrepreneurship and made a difference. A spotlight has also been placed on St. Stephen's College alumni and their projects in the realm of social entrepreneurship.

- Through EnacTalks, some of the areas upon which light has been shed and knowledge has been imparted are as follows:
- The initial 2 out of the 3 talks and radio shows were a part of the Azadi ka Amrut Mahotsav
  1. The changing education sector- major reforms and NEP through a radio show titled 'Empowering Educators'
  2. History and culture of entrepreneurship in existing India.
  3. Understanding food security and its various dimensions like hunger, poverty, deprivation and wasting.
    - Till now, 3 talks have been posted on our social media handles, which have attracted an audience ranging from 100 to 300 people.
    - The talks have been conducted with-
      1. Mr. Mathew K Thomas- a former stephanian, renowned educational consultant and founder of all India Educators Forum.
      2. A talk session with the first-year junior members where they expressed their views on the topic of the History and culture of entrepreneurship in India.
      3. Ms. Anchal Jain- a young and enterprising social worker exerting her efforts for mitigating global hunger, and starvation and promote nutritional outcomes under the banner of an eminent non-governmental organization named Robinhood Army (RHA)

Bussoc: Social Business Plan Competition

Enactus, St. Stephen's College held its second Case Study Competition: Bussoc 2022 from 8th to 11th March.

- The participants were presented with a project that they had to analyze using their problem-solving skills, analytical abilities and innovative ideas, and thus present a business strategy to take the project forward.
- The competition consisted of two rounds:
- 1) Quiz Round, held on 8th March.
- 2) Case Study Round, held between 9th-11th March.
- All the event publicity was done through online modes on platforms such as Instagram, Facebook and LinkedIn. Click here to view the publicity material.
- We received 52 registrations for the competition, of which 11 teams participated in the second round.
